

<input type="checkbox"/> Copy
<input type="checkbox"/> Scanned/File Original
<input type="checkbox"/> PDF Posted to Web
<input type="checkbox"/> Reviewed by PA
<input type="checkbox"/> Record in Database

VIOLATIONS/COMPLAINT FORM

City of Boulder Form 13-4-2, BRC, 1981

JOHN B. SPITZER, JR
Print Full Name of Complainant

2323 20th
BOULDER CO 80301
City State Zip

303 345-4004 303-345-4004 j.spitzer@boulder.comcast.net
Daytime Phone Number Evening Phone Number Email Address

The information contained in this filing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

[Signature] OCT 18, 2017
Signature of Complainant Date Submitted

VIOLATION ALLEGED

OPEN BOULDER "UCC" 2017-UCC-020
Candidate or Committee Complaint Filed Against Committee ID#

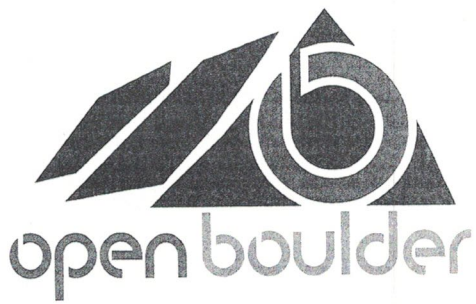

"CAMPAIGN FINANCE REFORM INITIATIVE"
FAILURE TO REPORT CONTRIBUTIONS; FAILURE
Violation of Boulder Ordinance Section, Charter Section, or State Election Law

Please describe specifically how the above law(s) were violated. Attach any relevant documents or supporting information.

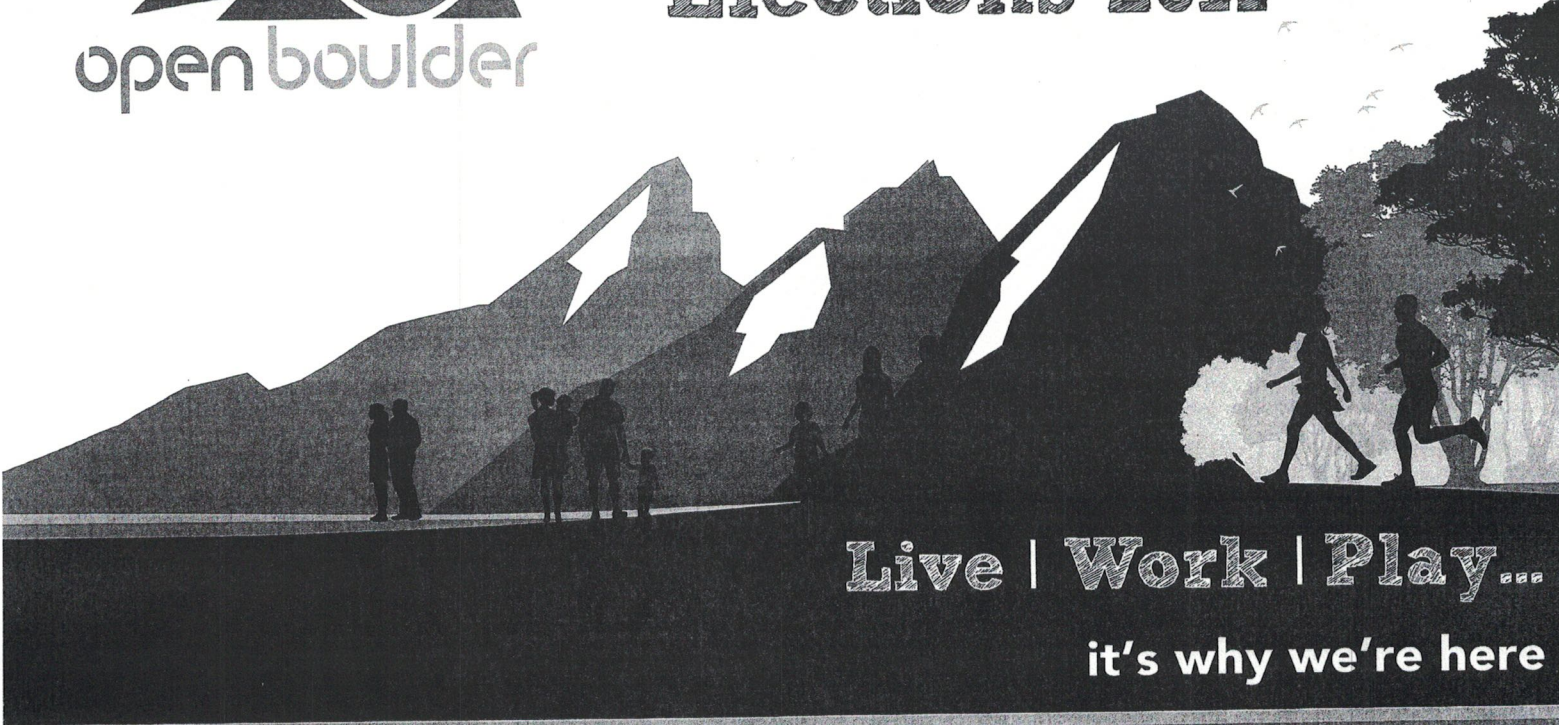

Here is an addendum to possible campaign violations: They also ran a Camera ad that cost 2100 dollars and put stickers on newspaper twice for at 600 each. Neither of these are on their expenditures

SO TOTAL EXPENDITURES APPEAR TO BE AT LEAST $18,300!

Attached is an "Open Boulder" flyer I received in the mail today. I have reason to believe that this flyer was sent to all voters in Boulder, at a cost of at least $10,000 (the flyer does note that "Paid for by Open Boulder, but it does NOT reference the Open Boulder 'Unofficial Candidate Committee.'). A similar flyer supporting candidates was distributed on doorsteps over the weekend — at an estimated cost of $5,000. "Open Boulder", to date, has only reported $2862 in contributions to their "Unofficial andante Committee." So where is all this money coming from? What are the possible remedies and penalties, esp. since this is an ongoing election, and the majority of voters are elected to vote in the next couple days.

Boulder Council Elections 2017

Live | Work | Play...
it's why we're here

14 Candidates ... How do I decide?

See inside for Open Boulder's
endorsements
for City Council

Visit us: OpenBoulder.org
Follow us: @OpenBoulder

Paid for by Open Boulder
P.O. Box 6003
Boulder, CO 80306

ECRWSHC047
T11 P2.
Spitzer Family
Or Current Resident
2323 20th St
Boulder CO 80304-4277

PRESORTED STD
PAID
DENVER, CO
Permit No. 4033

These five candidates have different skill sets and even philosophies on core issues. But what binds them together is a commitment to practical, analytical decision-making and a vision for the city that is open, progressive, and forward-looking. With them on Council, Boulder will face the future with clear eyes and without fear of change.

Eric Budd

Housing, Transportation Authority

Eric is the youngest of our endorsees but one of the most experienced, with his long service to civic group Better Boulder, advocating for walkable, denser neighborhoods where they make sense (usually near transit centers). Eric is a biking advocate, someone who gave up his car to create a near-carbon-neutral lifestyle, and a tech worker. He's well versed on housing and transportation, a member of the Landmarks Board, and a leader in the co-operative housing movement. He is reasonable, practical, and solution-oriented, and a great candidate for a seat in 2017.

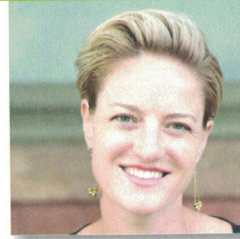

Jan Burton

Incumbent Star on Housing, Open Space

Jan is the only incumbent we are endorsing in 2017. We also endorsed her in 2015, as a newcomer to Boulder politics and a retired tech executive deeply involved in the community, especially in the arts and open space spheres. As a Council member, Jan has been a strong, persistent voice of reason on a range of issues, from growth to open space management to (especially) housing for middle income and younger Boulderites. Her perspective is crucial if Boulder is to meet its challenges and remain an attractive place to live, work, and play.

Learn more: JanForBoulder.com

Jill Grano

Newcomer, Affordable Housing Specialist

Jill is an exciting newcomer to Boulder politics. A successful real estate agent and Board member of Thistle Community Housing, Jill knows Boulder's housing market backwards and forwards. She'll be a voice for aggressive action on creating attainable housing solutions for middle income residents, and a supporter of transportation investments that connect dispersed centers of density. Also a supporter of the arts, Jill is smart and progressive, and has a strong set of clearly articulated positions.

Learn more: JillForCityCouncil.com

Mark McIntyre

Long-time Housing, Open Space Advocate

Mark is brand new to politics, but experienced in Boulder governance. He is a long-time advocate for increasing opportunities for bicyclists – both road and mountain – as well as the owner of a nationwide business services firm. He is particularly strong on housing and planning issues and can include among his supporters some of the foremost voices for affordability in our city. Mark's also an analytic, practical thinker deeply experienced in problem-solving, a key skillset for Council. He has served on Open Boulder's Steering Committee since its founding.

Learn more: MarkForCouncil.com

Bill Rigler

Climate Advocate, Transportation Chair

Another endorsee from 2015, Bill has been Chair of the Transportation Advisory Board for the past two years after falling just short of a Council seat in the last city council election. He's a transportation expert, sensitive to the needs of users of a variety of modes. He has worked locally for Naropa and Ball Aerospace, and previously as a climate advocate on the international level. His is a voice for climate action, diverse modes of transportation, and a welcoming environment for entrepreneurial business. He would also be the first Council member since about 1970 to rent rather than own his home, as do about 60% of Boulder residents.

Learn more: BillForBoulder.com

Open Boulder is the voice of Boulder-area citizens who came to this community to "live, work and play," and who want to ensure that the amazing assets that brought them here are open for all for generations to come. We are a grassroots, nonpartisan movement of open-minded, pragmatic and moderate individuals of all ages, cultures and economic backgrounds. We are parents, we are young and not-so-young professionals, students and recent grads, long-time residents and recent arrivals. We are employees and business owners, entrepreneurs and technology workers. We are outdoor enthusiasts and outdoor athletes, we are animal lovers, and we are environmentalists. We are forward looking, dynamic and we embrace diversity. We aren't afraid of change done right and we want our voices to be included in shaping our community's future. Most importantly, we are open to new ideas, new people and new ways of living, working and playing in Boulder.

What We Believe: Visit our website, at openboulder.org/issues, to learn more about where we stand.